

We get you running. Then we hand you the keys.

Moving forward is a guided handoff, not a cold start. We learn how you work, stand up your first client with you, run it while your team watches, then step back once you are ready to run the roster yourself.

White-glove onboarding. Built to make you independent.

What working together looks like

We onboard you, support your first client, then step back

- Map your workflow EVE LEADS
We learn how you onboard and serve clients today, then map where Eve fits with the least disruption.
- Set up your account EVE LEADS
We configure Eve to your workflow and onboard your team, your brand and voice guidelines built in.
- We onboard you EVE LEADS
You go through onboarding yourself, as if you were the client, so you learn the whole workflow first-hand before you run it for anyone else.
- Your first client, with us alongside SHARED
You stand up your first client. We review your early onboarding sessions and give feedback, hands-on through your first few.
- Fully yours YOU LEAD
You run the roster independently. We stay on for support and ship new features as they land.

What you walk away with

A configured account

Set up to match how your team already works.

Your first voice models

Built with you, ready to produce.

Templates and resources

Onboarding and production starters, yours to keep.

Eve as a named partner

A differentiator when you pitch.

What we'll need from you

- A point of contact
Someone on your side to lead the rollout with us.
- A first client to start with
One executive whose voice we stand up together.
- Brand and voice references
Samples and guidelines so drafts sound right from day one.

What to expect

- A clear cadence
Weekly syncs while you ramp, then monthly.
- What good looks like
Your first client live and producing on a weekly rhythm.
- White-glove at the start
Hands-on review and feedback through your first few clients.
